

LAW & JUSTICE

POLICE LOG

The Port Townsend Police Department noted 234 calls of interest from Aug. 5-11, and of those calls:

- 1 was a 911 call.
 - 3 were alarms.
 - 5 were animal calls.
 - 23 were area checks.
 - 7 were agency assists.
 - 1 was an assault.
 - 2 were burglaries.
 - 15 were contact requests.
 - 1 was a civil matter.
 - 1 was a custody dispute.
 - 2 were disorderly conduct calls.
 - 1 was for a disturbance.
 - 1 was for a disabled vehicle.
 - 2 were domestic violence calls.
 - 3 were for drugs.
 - 1 was for a DUI.
 - 12 were field interviews.
 - 19 were follow-up investigations.
 - 17 were foot patrols.
 - 1 was a forgery.
 - 3 were frauds.
 - 1 was for harassment.
 - 1 was for information.
 - 1 was a maritime call.
 - 1 was for a missing person.
 - 4 were for malicious mischief.
 - 2 were for motor vehicle theft.
 - 2 were noise complaints.
 - 2 were parking complaints.
 - 8 were patrol requests.
 - 7 were for lost-and-found property.
 - 1 was for a runaway.
 - 1 was responding to reportedly suicidal people.
 - 9 were for suspicious activity.
 - 10 were traffic collisions.
 - 2 were thefts.
 - 2 were threats.
 - 9 were traffic complaints.
 - 1 was for trespassing.
 - 27 were traffic stops.
 - 8 were for unwanted persons.
 - 1 was for a verbal altercation.
 - 2 were warrant arrests.
 - 11 were welfare checks.
 - And 35 were mental health or substance abuse related.
- All information was provided by Port Townsend Police Chief Mike Evans.

On Aug. 6 at 3:57 a.m. in the 800 block of Sheridan Street, police contacted a man who had concealed an aluminum bat at his hospital appointment. He was compliant with police and completed his appointment.

On Aug. 6 at 11:07 a.m. in the 800 block of Sheridan Street, police were called for a woman refusing to leave a facility and verbally assaulting staff. The woman left down the road, walking and screaming.

On Aug. 6 at 11:29 a.m. in the 1000 block of Quincy, police were called for a student who believed his Facebook account was "hacked." The student had left his laptop computer unattended in a public location. Police explained to the student to change his password and safe practices when using a computer in a public place.

On Aug. 6 at 12:14 p.m. in the 2300 block of Sims Way, three vehicles involved in a collision blocked the roadway, with minor injuries.

On Aug. 6 at 12:18 p.m. in the 800 block of Gaines Street, police were called for a woman yelling at another woman. They were separated prior to police arrival.

On Aug. 6 at 2:38 p.m. in the 800 block of Sheridan Street, a person reported their vehicle was "side-swiped" in a hit-and-run while parked.

On Aug. 6 at 2:48 p.m. in the 1900 block of 49th Street, police were called for a woman slumped over her steering wheel, who then drove off.

On Aug. 7 at 6:25 a.m. at Water and Madison, police located a man downtown, wanted for shoplifting that occurred in July. Police cited him for theft and released him.

On Aug. 7 at 8:36 a.m. in the 1400 block of Hancock Street, police were called for a stolen white Chevy van. The keys were left in the van, which was parked in the driveway. It was believed to have been stolen the prior night, or in the early morning.

On Aug. 7 at 8:49 a.m. in the 2500 block of Sims Way, police were called for a woman who hit-and-ran a vehicle occupied by a person. Police identified the suspect driver and attempted to locate her. Charges are hit-and-run on an attended vehicle, failure to transfer the title, no license plate and driving without a license

On Aug. 7 at 10:34 a.m. in the 800 block of Jefferson Street, police were called for vandalism to a building. Outside water was turned on, flooding the area. A piece of the building was broken off. A hole was dug in the shape of a penis, and paint poured in it. A note the business wrote to a transient, staying on the business grounds months ago, reappeared on the business door.

On Aug. 7 at 3:40 p.m. in the 400 block of 12th Street, police saw a man with an arrest warrant in the Kah Tai park area. Police arrested the man and found meth on his person. The man was arrested on two warrants and felony possession of meth.

On Aug. 7 at 5:22 p.m. in the 900 block of 49th Street, police were called for a woman who refused to leave the home of another woman. The unwanted woman left before police arrived.

On Aug. 7 at 6:40 p.m. in the 400 block of 12 Street, a person called police to report a man who appeared to be breaking into a vehicle, and then drove away in the vehicle. Police checked, and no vehicle of that description has been reported stolen.

On Aug. 8 at 12:40 a.m. in the 2800 block of Washington Street, police were asked to check the water area from shore in Port Townsend, as a man had posted on Facebook that his sailboat was sinking. The Coast Guard also advised. From shore vantage point during darkness, police were unable to see any boat in distress.

On Aug. 8 at 10:34 a.m. in the 2100 block of Clay Street, police were called for someone living in a van in a business parking lot. The vehicle was gone before police arrived.

On Aug. 8 at 11:27 a.m. at Quincy and Water, police were called for two men at the bus stop yelling and being threatening. The men were involved in a verbal altercation with one another. Police arrived, calmed both men down and helped mediate their dispute.

On Aug. 8 at 2:38 p.m. in the 1400 block of Holcomb Street, a vehicle drove into a ravine. It was pulled out by a tow truck with a chain. No one was injured.

On Aug. 8 at 8:25 p.m. in the 200 block of Battery Way, a bicycle was stolen from the front lawn of the place the owner was staying

On Aug. 8 at 9:49 p.m. in the 1100 block of Water Street, two unknown persons threw yogurt and eggs at a window and ran off. They were described as wearing a black hoodie and a bright green hoodie.

On Aug. 8 at 10:21 p.m. on West Park Avenue, police found a man hiding in the bushes at a business. He was charging his phone from an outdoor outlet. The man was warned about trespassing on private property and left.

On Aug. 9 at 12:30 a.m. in the 300 block of Sims Way, police saw a woman with an arrest warrant driving. Police stopped her and arrested her.

On Aug. 9 at 9:42 a.m. in the 1300 block of Sims Way, a hit-and-run traffic collision caused damage to a parked vehicle's front quarter panel.

On Aug. 9 at 11:56 a.m. in the 1300 block of Sims Way, police were called for an unoccupied vehicle that rolled back into another parked vehicle.

On Aug. 9 at 12:47 p.m. in the 4900 block of Landes, police were called for an intoxicated man passed out on a bench at the County Fair. The man agreed to leave after speaking with police.

On Aug. 9 at 3:40 p.m. in the 4900 block of Landes, police were called for parents yelling and cursing at another person who was attempting to have a supervised visit with their children. Police de-escalated and the parties separated.

On Aug. 9 at 7:09 p.m. in the 2000 block of Sheridan Street, a man called police to report two men had followed him and were saying vulgar things to him.

On Aug. 10 at 12:07 a.m. in the 1200 block of Landes Street, police were called for a woman suspected of doing drugs behind a building near a dumpster. Police did not locate anyone.

On Aug. 10 at 12:58 a.m. in the 200 block of Monroe, an intoxicated man called police to report he heard screaming from inside the shelter. Police inquired of others, and no one else in the area heard it. Police did not locate anyone in distress.

On Aug. 10 at 3:58 a.m. in the 400 block of Kearney Street, police were called for transients on the hill, screaming and howling and making disturbing noises. Police responded and found one intoxicated man leaving the area, who told police he was probably the one screaming.

On Aug. 10 at 11:17 a.m. in the 1300 block of Water Street, police were called for a woman yelling at passersby. When contacted by police, the woman spit and screamed. Police were able to de-escalate and get the woman to talk. Police called medical aid to evaluate her.

On Aug. 10 at 11:44 a.m. in the 400 block of Kearney Street, police were called to trespass an intoxicated man from a store for ongoing issues, including sexual comments towards customers and staff. Police issued a trespass admonishment to the man.

On Aug. 10 at 1:59 p.m. in the 2300 block of Washington Street, a woman called police to report that a transient man yelled at her children behind a business. The woman talked to the man and he left the area.

On Aug. 10 at 2:57 p.m. on the Larry Scott Trail police were called for a tent near the trail, and the reporting person hearing a possible scream or cry. When the reporting person asked if anyone needed help, no one responded. Police located an abandoned camp and checked the area, but were not able to find anyone.

On Aug. 10 at 3:45 p.m. in the 200 block of Thomas Street, police were called for concerns that the father of a young child is on meth and heroin, and neglecting his child. Police responded to the home and notified CPS.

On Aug. 10 at 4:07 p.m. at Water and Taylor, police were called for a male transient talking to himself. No crime was committed, and the man did not want to talk to police. There was no indication the man was in distress.

On Aug. 10 at 4:42 p.m. at Taylor and Franklin, police were called for human feces on a sidewalk. A person cleaned it up, but wanted police to be aware of the situation.

On Aug. 10 at 6:14 p.m. in the 100 block of 25th Street, an unknown person entered a garage and tried to steal a motorcycle.

On Aug. 10 at 6:25 p.m. in the 1000 block of Water Street, police were called for an intoxicated man laying down near a business. The man agreed to leave and go to a residence where he was allowed to stay.

On Aug. 11 at 7:21 a.m. in the 800 block of of Hendricks, an unknown person entered a fenced backyard, went into a travel trailer and locked themselves in. The owner tried to get in, and the suspect ran from the area.

On Aug. 11 at 8:24 a.m. in the 200 block of Battery Way, police were called for a suspected drunk driver in Fort Worden. The vehicle left prior to police arrival.

On Aug. 11 at 10:55 a.m. in the 3700 block of San Juan Ave, police were flagged down for a stray dog. In exchange for treats, the dog allowed police to get the phone number of her owner from her collar. Police gave the dog a courtesy ride to her owner's home, where they were happily reunited.

On Aug. 11 at 11:54 a.m. in the 2000 block of Haines Street, police were called for a man and a woman on a porch attempting to open a window. Police arrived and checked the area, but did not locate the persons. Police checked with neighbors, who stated they did not see or hear anything suspicious.

On Aug. 11 at 2:13 p.m. in the 200 block of Sims Way, police were called for a man who was shoplifting from a store. He left towards Kah Tai Park, where police located and arrested him. Police recovered multiple stolen items from the man, as well as meth, empty needles, a scale, bags and burglary tools. The man was booked in jail for felony drug possession with intent to sell, theft and burglary tools.

On Aug. 11 at 2:59 p.m. in the 1900 block of Sherman, a woman called police to report fraud. She sent money to an address in New York for rental property. When asked for additional payments, she became suspicious of fraud, requested a refund and never heard back from them, nor was her money returned.

On Aug. 11 at 4:50 p.m. in the 2300 block of Washington Street, a vehicle with a kayak backed into a business and broke a window.

SUSTAINABILITY

It's more than a mission.
It's what we do.

Since 2005 we have reduced green house gas emissions over 60%.

Building a better future for you,
a better future for the next generation.

www.ptpc.com

100 Mill Road, Port Townsend, WA 98368 • 360.385.3170

LAW & JUSTICE

POLICE LOG

The Port Townsend Police Department noted 302 calls of interest from Aug. 19 to Aug. 25, and of those calls:

- 2 were 911 calls.
- 1 was an abandoned vehicle.
- 9 were alarms.
- 12 were animal calls.
- 34 were area checks.
- 12 were agency assists.
- 1 was a civil matter.
- 13 were contact requests.
- 1 was a custodial dispute.
- 1 was a death investigation.
- 9 were disorderly conduct calls.
- 3 were for disabled vehicles.
- 5 were domestic calls.
- 3 were drug investigations.
- 1 was for a DUI.
- 10 were field interviews.
- 6 were follow-up investigations.
- 24 were foot patrols.
- 5 were for harassment.
- 2 were information reports.
- 1 was for malicious mischief.
- 2 were for motor vehicle theft.
- 4 were noise complaints.
- 15 were parking complaints.
- 5 were patrol requests.
- 7 were for lost-and-found property.
- 1 was for a sex offense.
- 10 were for suspicious activity.
- 2 were traffic collisions.
- 6 were thefts.
- 3 were threats.
- 13 were traffic complaints.
- 2 were for trespassing.
- 63 were traffic stops.
- 2 were for unwanted persons.
- 1 was for violation of a protection order.
- 2 were warrant arrests.
- 9 were welfare checks.
- And 39 were mental health or substance abuse related.

All information was provided by Port Townsend Police Chief Mike Evans.

On Aug. 21 at 11:28 a.m. in the 440 block of 12th Street, police were called to issue a trespass admonishment at the park-and-ride to a woman who was aggressive towards transit staff, including yelling and spitting.

On Aug. 21 at 12:07 p.m. in the 1100 block of Water Street, a person called to report a theft, stating they left a cell phone at a restaurant, and when they went back for it, it was gone.

On Aug. 21 at 4:01 p.m. in the 1200 block of Lawrence Street, police were called for a woman at the library, who was under a desk, refusing to move and allowing her dog to run around the library. The woman screamed profanities at library staff. Police issued her a trespass admonishment, and she left with her dog.

On Aug. 21 at 8:42 p.m. in the 300 block of Sims Way, police were called for a woman "scamming customers for free food" in the business lobby, and asked her to leave. The woman left yelling profanity.

On Aug. 21 at 9:39 p.m. in the 1000 block of Sheridan Street, police were called for a suspicious man in the field outside a facility. Police responded, but did not locate anyone.

On Aug. 21 at 10:28 p.m. in the 800 block of Cass Street, a woman called police to report a man whom she thought was on drugs had called her, wanting to be let in. Previously, he had been issued a trespass admonishment by police, and was not allowed in the home per the resident's request. Police looked for the man in the area, but did not locate him.

On Aug. 22 at 12:57 a.m. in the 400 block of Sims Way, police on patrol found an unoccupied car in a store parking lot with the door open, the key in the ignition and turned on, and a cellphone plugged in, with no one in or around the car. When the driver came out of the store, she told police she wasn't concerned because she said, "This is Port Townsend."

On Aug. 22 at 2:37 a.m. in the 300 block of Benedict Street, a man repeatedly called dispatch, reporting hearing multiple "sketchy" people, with weird tones of voices and weird cars driving around. The man was sometimes screaming and saying, "They are coming." Police contacted the man, known to them for drug use and hallucinations. His allegations were unfounded, and he was taken to the hospital for evaluation.

On Aug. 22 at 8:43 a.m. in the 2500 block of Hancock Street, police were called to a verbal domestic dispute between a man and a woman in their home. No crime was alleged, and no evidence of a crime was observed.

On Aug. 22 at 9:24 a.m. in the 800 block of Gaines Street, police were called due to concerns of drug activity, including meth use by people residing in or visiting a residence.

On Aug. 22 at 11:39 a.m. in the 200 block of Sims Way, police were called for new graffiti on a log, in the area of a transient camp.

On Aug. 22 at 12:15 p.m. in the 1000 block of 10th Street, police were called when a woman got verbally hostile with staff at a facility, and was told to leave. She went outside and was yelling. The facility wanted police to escort the woman from the property. Police de-escalated her, and she left voluntarily.

On Aug. 22 at 4:49 p.m. in the 1200 block of Hancock Street, police were called for someone in a vehicle illegally dumping trash into a facility's dumpster. The vehicle then left.

On Aug. 22 at 7:37 p.m. in the 1400 block of McPherson, police were called for a dispute between roommates, each of whom alleged the other had stolen their phone and damaged them. Intoxication appeared to be a factor in the dispute. Police located both phones, undamaged, and returned them to their respective owners.

On Aug. 22 at 7:37 p.m. in the 800 block of Water Street, a man called police and said he thought an elderly couple was taking pictures of him and making jokes about him. The dispatcher heard a woman in the background, stating they were not taking pictures. About four minutes later, the man told dispatch he no longer needed police.

On Aug. 23 at 4:11 a.m. at Mile Post 8 on state Route 20, a man called dispatch crying, stating he was scared, and that he'd hit a tree with his vehicle and drove into a ditch. A police officer responded to the area of Mile Post 8 on SR 20, and found the vehicle heavily damaged in a ditch, having struck several trees. The driver had minor injuries, and stated he'd fallen asleep.

On Aug. 23 at 11:08 a.m. in the 4300 block of Holcomb Street, police were called to do a welfare check on a woman. They met with her in her home, and she told police she was concerned, as she had a doctor's appointment, but did not know how she was going to get there. Police offered her a ride, and she was very grateful.

On Aug. 23 at 1:59 p.m. in the 600 block of Fillmore, police were called for a stolen vehicle. Police checked, and the vehicle was not stolen, but had been impounded.

On Aug. 23 at 3:26 p.m. in the 2800 block of Washington Street, police were called for a vehicle believed to be involved in drug use and casing in preparation for theft. Police located the vehicle, and no criminal activity was observed.

On Aug. 23 at 8:52 p.m. in the 400 block of Sims Way, police were called for a suspicious vehicle reportedly "circling" and "prowling" around a parking lot. The vehicle was gone before police arrived.

On Aug. 23 at 10:51 p.m. in Downtown Port Townsend, police were waved down by a couple who thought their car was stolen. Police helped them find their car. It was not stolen. They'd forgotten where they parked it.

On Aug. 24 at 3:50 p.m. at the intersection of F and Cherry streets, police were called when an angry person moved temporary road signs. The person was gone before police arrived, and the signs were put back.

On Aug. 24 at 4:23 p.m. in the 600 block of Water Street, police were called for a woman aggressively panhandling at a building downtown. Police confirmed she had been trespassed from the building prior. She was cited and released for criminal trespass.

On Aug. 24 at 7:47 p.m. at Fort Worden, police were called for a domestic violence incident outdoors at the THING festival. A woman was arrested for misdemeanor assault against her husband, who had minor injuries to the head and neck area.

On Aug. 24 at 8:04 p.m. in the 1100 block of Water Street, police were called for an intoxicated man at a bar, being belligerent and rude to customers, and upset that the establishment refused to serve him alcohol. Police issued him a trespass warning from the bar, and told him not to return. He returned approximately 15 minutes later. Police returned and arrested him. He was booked in jail.

On Aug. 24 at 10:37 p.m., a man called police stating he was having a mental health crisis. The man asked for a ride to the hospital, which police gave him.

On Aug. 25 at 10:10 a.m. in the 4300 block of Holcomb Street, police were called for a woman, screaming and kicking in a doorway. The woman was transported by medical aid to the hospital.

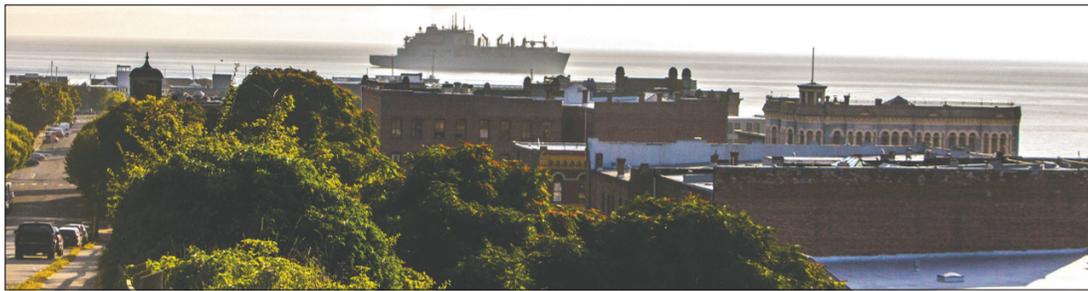

On Aug. 25 at 11:50 a.m. in the 2300 block of San Juan Avenue, police were called for a woman suspected to be under the influence of drugs, who appeared agitated and yelled while walking.

On Aug. 25 at 5:15 p.m. in the 200 block of Thomas, a woman called police to have her boyfriend removed from their home. He refused to leave, as he had no place to go. Both had established residency at the home, and police explained neither one could force the other to leave. No crime was committed.

On Aug. 25 at 6:44 p.m. in the 400 block of Sims Way, police were called for an intoxicated woman who fell in a parking lot. She was not injured, and agreed to sit on a bench and wait for a ride, coming to get her.

On Aug. 25 at 7:09 p.m. at Fort Worden, a man claiming to be providing security for the Dalai Lama called to report a suspicious vehicle idling for more than two hours, with no one in it. The vehicle left before police arrived.

On Aug. 25 at 9:31 p.m. in the 200 block of Battery Way, a man reported he believed he was pickpocketed by an approximately 20-year-old man and woman, who asked for a hug. Taken was his wallet.

USNS Wally Schirra, a 689-foot dry cargo and ammunition resupply ship, pulls into Port Townsend Bay on Aug. 26. Leader photo by Dean Miller

WOOL

R.H. KOLLER

Fine Hand Washing
of Hand Knotted
Rugs & Carpets
Locally Since 1993

360-779-1775

www.rhkoller.com

We believe in FAMILY

It's more than a mission.
It's what we do.

Port Townsend Paper pays family-wages.
That's why our average employee takes home more than $70K a year.

Building a better future for you,
a better future for the next generation.

www.ptpc.com

100 Mill Road, Port Townsend, WA 98368 • 360.385.3170

LAW & JUSTICE

POLICE LOG

The Port Townsend Police Department noted 200 calls of interest from Sept. 2 to Sept. 8, and of those calls:

- 3 were 911 calls.
- 8 were alarms.
- 12 were animal calls.
- 27 were area checks.
- 5 were agency assists.
- 1 was an assault.
- 1 was a burglary.
- 10 were civil matters.
- 1 was a custodial dispute.
- 3 were disorderly conduct.
- 1 was a disabled vehicle.
- 3 were domestic violence.
- 6 were field interviews.
- 9 were follow-up investigations.
- 7 were foot patrols.
- 3 were harassment.
- 4 were malicious mischief.
- 1 was a maritime call.
- 1 was a missing person.
- 1 was a motor vehicle theft.
- 1 was a noise complaint.
- 8 were parking complaints.
- 3 were patrol requests.
- 10 were lost-and-found property.
- 2 were sexual offenses.
- 2 were suspicious activity.
- 4 were traffic collisions.
- 2 were thefts.
- 1 was a threat.
- 5 were traffic complaints.
- 1 was trespassing.
- 39 were traffic stops.
- 1 was an unwanted person.
- 1 was a verbal dispute.
- 1 was a no-contact violation.
- 1 was a warrant arrest.
- 11 were welfare checks.
- And 22 were mental health or substance abuse related.

All information was provided by Port Townsend Police Chief Mike Evans.

On Sept. 2 at 7:50 p.m. at the intersection of Blaine and Kearney, police were flagged down by a man reporting another man was walking a stolen dog. The reporting man claimed the dog was stolen from friends of his that day. Police checked and no one had made a police report of a stolen dog that day. Police spoke with the accused man, who stated he was the owner of the dog. The dog clearly responded to the man, to include commands, consistent with the man being the owner of the dog. The man claimed two other men wanted him to hang out with them, and when he declined, they became verbally aggressive, with one accusing him of stealing the dog.

On Sept. 3 at 8:08 a.m. in the 2500 block of San Juan, police were called for a vehicle-versus-fawn collision, with the vehicle leaving the scene. One witness thought the vehicle intentionally hit the fawn, while another witness did not think it was intentional. The fawn was killed. Police were not able to locate the vehicle.

On Sept. 3 at 8:39 a.m. in the 2300 block of South Park Avenue, police were called for an illuminated sign being kicked in sometime over the weekend.

On Sept. 3 at 9:16 a.m. in the 2300 block of South Park Avenue, police were called to do extra patrols for vandalism to businesses overnight and during the weekends.

On Sept. 3 at 10:18 a.m. in the 3900 block of Holcomb, a person reported to police a hit-and-run traffic collision that occurred Aug. 30 between 10-11 a.m.

On Sept. 3 at 2:33 p.m. at 1925 Blaine St., a woman called police, as she learned her transient brother was in Port Townsend and she had not seen him for several years. She requested police ask him to contact her. Police located him walking in town, and passed on the request.

On Sept. 3 at 2:39 p.m. at the intersection of Sheridan and Sims, police were called for a man who had earlier been seen with a beer, lying on the sidewalk. Police contacted the man, who agreed not to lie on the sidewalk, and said if he needed to lie down, he would do it on the grass. Police offered to give him a ride to where he said he was headed, to pay for a cab and to fix a damaged piece of his mobility device, but he refused all services offered and continued on his way.

On Sept. 3 at 5:01 p.m. in the 2600 block of Washington Street, police were contacted regarding a boat striking and damaging an unoccupied boat tied to a dock. Contact and insurance information was left at the unoccupied boat by the striking boat.

On Sept. 3 at 7:41 p.m. at the intersection of Clay and Fillmore, police and East Jefferson Fire Rescue personnel responded to a car-versus-moped traffic collision. The driver of the moped, a 72-year-old woman, was airlifted to Harborview Medical Center in Seattle.

On Sept. 4 at 12:35 a.m. at the intersection of Taylor and Washington, police were called for a motor vehicle collision of two vehicles. The driver of the vehicle causing the collision was cited for lane travel causing a collision, and having a suspended driver's license. Officers gave him a ride to where he was staying in Port Townsend, and gave the other vehicle driver a ride home due to the damage to her car.

On Sept. 4 at 11:02 a.m. at the intersection of Blaine and Harrison, police were called for a loud truck driving through a neighborhood, displaying a Trump flag.

On Sept. 4 at 11:29 a.m. at the intersection of Discovery and Hastings, police were called for a small pile of yard waste in the road. Police removed it.

On Sept. 4 at 4:04 p.m. in the 200 block of Sims Way, police were called for a woman driver backing over a curb two times, who became angry when confronted by onlookers. The vehicle left the area, and police were unable to locate it.

On Sept. 4 at 9:10 p.m. in the 2200 block of Towne Point, a person called police after overhearing people talk about shooting his raft in his yard with a BB gun. He did not see anyone. Police did not locate or hear anyone, and there was no damage to the raft.

On Sept. 5 at 8:53 a.m. at the intersection of Discovery Road and Sherman Street, police were called about vehicles speeding, especially in school zones.

On Sept. 5 at 12:08 p.m. at the Jefferson County Courthouse, police arrested a Port Townsend man for three counts of domestic violence felony assault on a child. The incidents of assault occurred in Port Townsend. The arrest warrant was a result of a Port Townsend Police Department investigation.

On Sept. 5 at 6:12 p.m. at the intersection of Discovery and Mill, police were called for a bundle of firewood in the roadway. Police removed it.

On Sept. 6 at 3:25 a.m. in the 1800 block of Jefferson, police were called for a fawn laying in the roadway. Police assisted the fawn in getting out of the roadway and into a safer area.

On Sept. 6 at 9:31 a.m. in the 1700 block of Cherry Street, police were called when a person saw a man yelling and cursing at his neighbor. The man left, walking down the road. Police checked the area and did not find the man.

On Sept. 6 at 10:16 a.m. in the 9700 block of Highway 20, police were called for a car's battery cable being cut, causing approximately $300 damage and a tow bill.

On Sept. 6 at 11:17 a.m. in the 300 block of Sims Way, police were called to a report of domestic violence outside a restaurant, of a man and woman arguing, and the man seeming to push the woman. Police contacted the couple, who'd walked about a block away, and separated them. Both gave the same account, that they were arguing, and the woman tried to hug the man, and he rebuked her. Neither stated there was any physical assault. Intoxication was a factor in the incident.

On Sept. 6 at 1:05 p.m. on the trail near the fairgrounds, police were called for concerns of a transient man walking his dog and shouting angrily. The incident occurred on the previous Sunday. The person reporting the incident was concerned about its proximity to a school.

On Sept. 6 at 6 p.m. in downtown, a local tow company called police to report an unknown man making repeated calls, swearing at and insulting the business. Police called the phone number making the calls, and learned the person wanted a vehicle towed for blocking his vehicle. Police resolved this issue, and told him to stop calling the tow company.

On Sept. 6 at 6:36 p.m. on the high school grounds, police found a couple of juvenile women climbing onto the roof of a utility building near the high school. Police told them not to climb on the roof of the utility building. They agreed and left.

On Sept. 6 at 7:56 p.m. in the 1900 block of Blaine Street, police were called for an elderly man lying on the ground in front of a bench. Police arrived to see the man walking. He stated he was fine. He had stopped to take a rest and smoke a cigarette.

On Sept. 6 at 8:35 p.m. near the old ferry dock, police were called for an incident in which a boat drifted into another boat while anchored near Port Townsend. No injuries were reported.

On Sept. 6 at 11:01 p.m. in the 700 block of Taylor Street, police were called to a possible burglary in progress at a vacant home. Police arrived and contacted three individuals parked in front of the home. They denied entering the home, and there was no evidence of entry to the home nor any criminal activity.

On Sept. 6 at 11:35 p.m. at the intersection of Blaine and Adams, police were called for a pickup truck left parked in a drainage ditch, partially blocking the road and causing a hazard. Police towed the vehicle, and issued a ticket for parking in the roadway.

On Sept. 7 at 8:22 a.m. at Point Hudson, police were called by a concerned family member, to help locate a man who sailed from Victoria, B.C., headed to the Wooden Boat Festival, because they didn't know if he arrived. Police contacted him, safely at his boat in Point Hudson. Police communicated this to the Canadian Constable.

On Sept. 7 at 9:29 a.m. in the 100 block of Taylor, new graffiti was reported in the downtown area.

On Sept. 7 at 3:06 p.m. at the intersection of Fillmore and Franklin, a person visiting the Wooden Boat Festival came to the police department to report the possible theft of their vehicle, but also did not remember where in downtown or uptown they had parked the vehicle. A downtown officer located the vehicle. Police gave the owner a courtesy ride from the police department to their vehicle. No theft occurred.

On Sept. 7 at 4:18 p.m. at the Port of Port Townsend, police located and arrested a transient man wanted by the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office for felony domestic violence assault against a woman.

On Sept. 7 at 7:26 p.m. in the 2600 block of East Sims Way, a man called police to report another man was threatening him, to include stating he would "mess him up." Police checked the area and did not find the suspect.

On Sept. 7 at 7:42 p.m. in the area of the skateboard park, a person called police to report bullying behavior among juveniles occurring off school grounds, but wanted the School Resource Officer and the school to be aware. The reporting person was not interested in seeking criminal charges at the time.

On Sept. 7 at 8:48 p.m. in the 5700 block of Hendricks, a person called police for approximately six juveniles on their property, having climbed up the bluff. They were last seen running and yelling near the end of the driveway. All were gone by the police's arrival. The reporting person thought they may have gotten stuck on the beach by high tide, and climbed the bluff onto private property to get out.

On Sept. 7 at 11:09 p.m. in the 200 block of Monroe Street, police were called out of concern that a woman had not reported to the shelter. The person normally stays in the shelter every night. Police located her trying to sleep in a nearby port-a-potty. She stated she got caught in the rain, and thought she could not go to the shelter. Police helped her get to the shelter, and requested she use their services, rather than trying to sleep in a port-a-potty.

see POLICE LOG, page A4

WOOL

R.H. KOLLER

Fine Hand Washing
of Hand Knotted
Rugs & Carpets
Locally Since 1993

360-779-1775

www.rhkoller.com

We believe in

CLEAN WATER

It's more than a mission.

It's what we do.

Every drop of water that streams through Port Townsend Paper goes back to the sea. That's why it's as pure as it can be.

Building a better future for you and for the next generation.

www.ptpc.com

100 Mill Road, Port Townsend, WA 98368 • 360.385.3170