Raised in Chicago, with bedrock Midwestern roots, he eventually packed up his degree from the University of Missouri and headed for Nashville.

He began to find his voice as a performer and songwriter and, within a few short years, wrote the song that won the prestigious 2018 Nashville Songwriters Association International Song Contest, presented by Country Music Television.

In 2018, Gurney was cast in the first season of E! Network's show, "Very Cavallari." His song, "I Can't Take You Anywhere," was featured throughout the show and reached the top 50 on the iTunes country chart upon its release. David Borné (pronounced Bor-nay) is an Americana singer/songwriter and artist from Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Borné has been performing in Nashville and has released his independent debut EP, "Break My Heart," in March of 2016.

Finally, at 7 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 24, Craig Morgan will perform.

A multi-faceted entertainer, Morgan has made a name for himself as a country music icon, TV personality, celebrated outdoorsman and patriotic Army veteran.

One of country music's best-loved artists, Morgan has charted 25 songs on Billboard and thrills massive crowds with signature hits including "Bonfire," "Almost Home," "Redneck Yacht Club," "International Harvester," "This Ole Boy," "Wake Up Loving You" and the four-week No. 1 song, "That's What I Love About Sunday."

He received one of country music's highest honors when he was inducted as a member of the Grand Ole Opry in 2008. Prior to becoming a country music star and TV sensation, Morgan spent 17 years serving America in the Army and Army Reserve. He remains an avid supporter of America's military personnel and has made 15 overseas trips to perform for the troops.

A recipient of the 2006 USO Merit Award, in 2018 he was awarded the Army's Outstanding Civilian Service Medal, one of the highest awards the Department of the Army can bestow upon a civilian, in recognition of his significant dedication to American military men and women around the world.
