

Centerstage Theatre tickets now on sale

Options for live streaming and virtual performances.

Tickets are now on sale for the 2020-2021 Centerstage Theatre season, which includes live streamed and virtual performances.

The award-winning Centerstage Theatre has been a feature of the South Sound Arts Community since 1977 and has performed at the Knutzen Family Theatre since 1998.

In light of the recent challenges facing live arts, these shows were chosen with both artistic integrity and actor/audience safety in mind, according to a Sept. 9 news release.

If current health conditions do not safely allow gatherings, every show will have options for live streaming and/or virtual performances, the release said.

This options allows audiences to engage in the way in which they are the most comfortable.

Each show has been designed to keep all artists safe and healthy throughout the entire process by playing with theatre tropes and tricks.

Individual tickets are also on sale now. For more information or to purchase tickets, call the office at (253) 661-1444 or visit online at centerstagetheatre.com.

The Centerstage Theatre 2020-21 Season includes the following shows:

Theatre Magic (and Other Things We Need): A celebration of humanity and the theatre! In an evening of fantastical scenes, we will discover the ability of theatre to transcend our limitations. It's magical, it's powerful, it's funny...and it's just what we need.

A 1940's Radio Christmas Carol: Step into the wonderful age of radio and experience the bustle in the studio as a national station puts on A Christmas Carol. The company's clever show includes gorgeous holiday music and all the live sound effects you could want... plus a twist! When mayhem breaks out mid-show, the actors decide to improvise their own ending to the classic tale, complete with a detective, a femme fatale, and...a rescued baby? Ah well, it's still the most wonderful time of the year!

The Importance of Being Earnest: This witty, layered show is a classic for many reasons! Oscar Wilde's masterpiece truly is as relatable now as it was when first written. Jack and his best friend Algernon have no desire to keep social obligations and no patience for boredom. Their plan to avoid the tedium of being themselves is to become other people entirely! The two young men proceed to make up entirely fictitious personae - both named Earnest - and live their lives under this new name. All is well and good, until they both fall in love with women who have sworn only to marry a man named Earnest. In the face of love struck but silly ladies, prudish governesses, and sharp-tongued matriarchs, can the two keep up the deception? Will they even want to?

Within the Law: A young shopgirl does her job well, believing in kindness and integrity - until one day she is framed and arrested for theft. Sentenced to prison on the insistence of her politically influential boss, she vows to repay the men and the system who have ruined her life. She will do it without ever breaking the law... no one can stop her. A tense, layered, cathartic tale of injustice, revenge, and eventual redemption, Within the Law is based on the 1913 play by Bayard Veiller and is being given a fresh adaptation by actor and playwright Joshua Jérard, with additional edits by Trista Duval.

Puss in Boots: a Panto: This year, our popular Panto comes back for a summer spin! All the elements you know and love get remixed again for a clever take on the tale of Puss in Boots. Our hero envisions a life of love, adventure, and bravery. Alas, he has very few skills and even less money in his pocket! Just in time, an absurd mix up leaves him with what might just be the recipe for success: a little luck, a little magic...and a very clever cat.

Support your Federal Way restaurants

Eat local. Eat lots. Federal Way restaurants need your support and look forward to satisfying your appetite.

Many local establishments are offering patio dining, take-out options and reduced capacity dine-in seating. If you can't stay for a meal or want to show support in other ways, consider picking up a gift card.

Too many delicious choices and can't decide? Use the Puget Sound area interactive map of restaurants offering take-out and delivery to find what's near you.

To use the map, residents can enter their location or drop a pin and find all the available restaurants near them. Once they select their restaurant, they can place a takeout or delivery order directly through the app or can receive directions to the restaurant.

The #SupportPugetSoundSmallBiz map also allows users to search for by city or ZIP code, and also features bars, cafés and breweries, along with restaurants. Visit seattlecitygis.maps.arcgis.com to start searching.

The city of Seattle geographic information system (GIS) staff created the map to list restaurants offering takeout and delivery with details on location, hours and contact information. The site began with just Seattle eateries but has expanded to numerous cities from Everett to Tacoma.

Make it your mission to find the best burgers in town, discover the tastiest up-and-coming restaurant, or tip your barista a bit extra when you go for your next morning coffee.
